Goddard Gets Governor Bid

HARRISBURG (AP)—Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters and distinguished conservationist, was the center of a flurry of new speculation Tuesday about the 1962 contest for governor.

Commenting on the reports, Goddard said: "It would be something a person would have to consider seriously. Candidacy for a post of such tremendous importance could not be taken lightly under any circumstances. One doesn't say 'no' or 'yes' to such a prospect without consideration."

Stevenson Will Stay With UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson announced Tuesday he has decided against running for the U.S. Senate in Illinois. He agreed to stay on at the United Nations after President Kennedy promised him a larger role in shaping U.S. foreign policy.

Stevenson's decision surprised many political experts. It apparently was influenced by assurances from the President that his job as chief U.S. delegate at the United Nations would be broadened to give him a bigger voice in the administration.

Meat Cutters Still On Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A joint bargaining session ended after just 10 minutes Tuesday as negotiators failed to make headway in the five-day old strike of meat cutters against A&P Food Stores.

Federal mediators said no new proposals were made by either side. Earlier the mediators met in separate sessions with the Amalgamated Meat Cutter and Butcher Workmen and the Philadelphia Food Stores Employers Labor Council, which represents A&P, American Stores (Acme) and Food Fair Stores, Inc.

UN On Virtual War Footing

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U. Thant put the United Nations on a virtual war footing in tumultuous Katanga Province Tuesday. He ordered jet planes and additional ground reinforcements into Elisabethville, the Katanga capital.

Asked by a reporter if he intends to go to the Congo, he replied: "It all depends." Pressed further as to whether he would exclude the possibility of such a mission, he said "no."

Sees Balanced Budget In 1963

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Lawrence said Tuesday Pennsylvania will have a balanced budget in 1963—the state's first balanced budget since the first part of the Duff administration in the late 1940s.

However, the governor did not predict the size of the 1963 budget. Lawrence made the remarks at a press conference held in conjunction with a regional development conference at Meadville, the third such conference in a series.

Mac Says Talks May Be Easy

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Tuesday night negotiations with the Russians over Berlin may be easier than the West expected.

He explained, however, he could not be sure because the talks, if they materialize, might prove long and difficult.

Macmillan made these comments in the House of Commons in discussing his Bermuda conference with President Kennedy.

Soviet Abandons N-Treaty Idea

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union said Tuesday it has abandoned the idea of an internationally controlled nuclear weapons test ban because of the Western powers' refusal to sign a German peace treaty.

Western sources at the nuclear test-ban talks said Russia's Senyom K. Tsarapkin used this argument in a diatribe against the United States and Britain.

The conference is hopelessly deadlocked by a Soviet demand for a test ban without any form of international inspection.

Imports Blamed For Work Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House labor subcommittee was told Tuesday that imports ranging from bicycles to musical recordings is throwing great numbers of Americans out of work.

Nigerian Delegate Proposes 'Two Chinas' Compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A "two Chinas" compromise to accept both Nationalist and Communist China as U.N. members was advanced for the first time in the General Assembly Tuesday by a leading spokesman for Africa.

Foreign Minister Jaja Wachuku of Nigeria told the assembly it must "face the reality of two Chinas" and admit the Peiping government. But he said Nigeria would not agree to expel President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists as a condition for seating Communist representatives. He suggested that Peiping submit an application for U.N. membership. "Let us accept the fact that there are two states now existing in what used to be the territory of one," he said. "Let us stop cold war in this assembly. Don't squabble over something that can be solved by common sense."

He pointed out that under the U.N. Charter a member can be expelled only by agreement of the Security Council, and Nationalist China could block such a move with its council veto.

Wachuku said a committee might be set up by the assembly to study the problem and possibly look into a membership application from Peiping.

"The decisive factor will be the willingness or the unwillingness of the People's Republic of (Communist) China to accept the obligations of U.N. membership," he said.

The United States and the Soviet Union have heavy prestige stakes in the China question, and both have rejected the idea of two states for China. So have the Nationalist and Communist governments.

Since the debate began in the assembly last Friday, the issue has been strictly between the two rival regimes. The Soviet Union is pushing a proposal to expel the Nationalists and seat the Communists in "all organs" of the United Nations including the Security Council. Wachuku opposed this.

To block the Soviet resolution, the United States has proposed that China be labeled "an important question." Under U.N. rules, this means any decision on Chinese membership would have to be approved by two-thirds of the 103-nation assembly instead of a simple majority. U.S. officials are confident they have enough votes to keep the Russians from building a two-thirds majority for their resolution.

Search Continues For Dogs In Biting Incident Saturday

THE SEARCH continued yesterday for two dogs—medium sized Collie types—one of which bit a seven-year-old girl last Saturday morning in East Stroudsburg.

The dogs are sought in order to determine if they have rabies which could be dangerous to the victim, Gail Riggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Riggs of East Stroudsburg RD. 2.

However, the location of the dogs is just a precautionary measure as the dogs may not be sick. Dog owners can assist by tying their animals for the next two weeks and if any stray dogs are located they can be checked.

Rabies, it was learned, is fairly rare in Monroe County. Dr. John Lim, who treated the little girl, said the last case he had was about 15 years ago and that occurred with a woman in Wilkes-Barre.

Gail was bitten about 9:30 a.m. Saturday while playing in front of her grandmother's house at 614 Oak St., East Stroudsburg.

She received a bruise on the calf of her right leg. The grandmother, Mrs. James Riggs, heard the girl's screams and ran to the street. Mrs. Riggs saw the girl struggling with the dogs.

Gail was taken to Dr. Lim who administered several shots. Dr. Lim said the dogs must be examined for rabies to make certain there will be no complications.

Owners are also asked to check whether any of their dogs were loose last Saturday but may now be tied.

The dogs are described as long-haired, about the size of miniature Collies (or may be Shepherd type); one is all black and the other all red—more like a fox-colored red.

Strike, Rioting Still Plague Dominican Republic Capital

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Mobs of strikers roamed the slums of this capital Tuesday hunting for the thugs turned loose by the government Monday to smash open stores in a vain attempt to break the anti-government general strike.

Police fought off the vengeance-seekers. Gunfire cracked and noise bombs exploded, but there were no known casualties.

On this eighth day of the crippling strike aimed at ousting President Joaquin Balaguer, crowds of government workers returned to their jobs after a new warning from the government that they would be fired unless they reported to work by noon Wednesday.

In the poorer sections of the city, where the pinch from the business slowdown is the most severe, many shops opened their doors for business.

But stores in the main commercial districts remained shut and hundreds of demonstrators chanted for the continuation of the strike and the removal of Balaguer.

Travelers from Santiago and the Cibao Valley in the north central area reported the strike even more effective there. Government operations were said to be completely paralyzed.

As the strike dragged on, the major opposition groups were reported unflinching in their demand that Balaguer must resign to make way for a provisional regime purged of himself and other Trujillo era holdovers.

Balaguer, backed by the armed forces, has proposed a small junta headed by himself but with all other posts going to the opposition.

Area Men To Be Named To SBA Council

(Special To The Daily Record) WASHINGTON — Phil Berman, Allentown firm official, and Mariano C. Saveri, Bangor textile manufacturer, will be named to the Small Business Administration's advisory council at the request of Rep. Francis E. Walter.

The Eastern congressman submitted the names of Berman and Saveri to the White House and has been notified that the appointments have been approved.

Berman and Saveri are among 27 persons from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New Jersey and Delaware who will be named to the advisory council for Region Three of the Small Business Administration.

SBA Administrator John Horne said Berman and Saveri will work directly with him and William Harmon, regional administrator in charge of the Philadelphia SBA office.

Walter said: "They will advise the administrator of the problems of small businessmen in the Lehigh Valley area and also will make recommendations to the Small Business Administration in behalf of area firms."

AFL-CIO Says Unions May Press For Shorter Hours

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO said Tuesday that if high levels of unemployment persist labor unions would press Congress for legislation to cut the present standard of 40-hour work weeks.

The federation's Executive Council, in a report released in advance of convention sessions here, also called on unions to redouble their efforts to reduce work hours through collective bargaining agreements.

The report said little headway had been made in the past two years in getting employers to accept share-the-work proposals. "However," it added, "there was increased discussion of shorter hours in various negotiations and, especially if unemployment pressures mount, the groundwork has been laid for rapid acceptance here."

President Kennedy, due to address the opening AFL-CIO convention session Thursday, has opposed any legislation to cut work hours, saying that all-out production is needed in the present stage of world affairs.

The AFL-CIO council said a cut in working hours should be accomplished with the same or increased weekly pay in order to maintain employment.

In another development, AFL-CIO President George Meany held a conciliatory meeting with a delegation from the Negro-American Labor Council—an organization with which Meany has been at odds over racial policy. Meany promised to try to establish close working relations between the council and the AFL-CIO.

The council has criticized the AFL-CIO as too lax in efforts to stamp out discriminatory practices against Negroes.

Democrats To Meet Today

Reapportionment Plans Still Up In The Air

By HERB LINNEN HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom said Tuesday he would need about a week to study any congressional reapportionment plan proposed by Democrats.

Pennsylvania Democratic leaders will meet here Wednesday in an effort to draft such a plan so that it can be presented to Republicans for their consideration. "If they (Democrats) reach an agreement, I would be ready to sit down Thursday morning with (Democratic state chairman) Otis Morse to discuss the matter," Bloom said.

"But I would have to withhold any judgment on our position until I have discussed the proposal with various people, including the Republican Legislative Committee on Reapportionment," he said, "that would take about a week."

If Democrats were to reach an agreement and considering Bloom's timetable, that would mean the week of Dec. 18 would be the earliest date a special legislative session could be arranged. It would take a minimum of five legislative days to adopt a reapportionment bill providing both Republicans and Democrats had agreed on its terms.

Bloom indicated that with events running so close to the Christmas holidays, it might be better to wait until next month to consider reapportionment.

Gov. Lawrence is the only one who can call a special session of the General Assembly. He is represented by Democratic sources as still considering the possibility of a session this year providing both parties are in agreement on reapportionment.

Lawrence is not required to give any specific advance notice to lawmakers before calling a special session, House Parliamentarian S. Edward Moore said.

Unless there is some form of compromise, Majority Leader Stephen McCann indicated Tuesday Democrats would encounter difficulty passing a redistricting bill in the House.

McCann said he couldn't count on solid Democratic House support for any plan envisioning retention of Philadelphia's six seats by annexing parts of Delaware and Bucks counties.

Bloom said Republicans are still going to insist that U. S. Rep. William J. Green, Philadelphia Democratic chairman, give up a seat in that city.

Green has been represented as refusing to do this. His only public statements on the question have stated the same—that is, he favors "a fair and equitable reapportionment."

Reached in Boston, Congressman John McCormack of Massachusetts said Green had asked him about the possibility of increasing the size of Congress next year. McCormack said he told Green he favored the idea.

The New Englander is considered in line to succeed the late speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who reportedly opposed a larger Congress. An increase in representation would save an additional seat for Pennsylvania.

Informed Democratic sources said some of the state's Democratic congressmen, who will attend Wednesday's session, could be expected to impress upon Green that compromise is a must.

The congressmen are represented as being deeply concerned about the prospect of running at-large next year. That is what they would have to do if the legislature failed to reapportion seats by Feb. 20.

Pennsylvania stands to lose three of its 30 seats in Congress because its population growth failed to keep pace with that of other states in the 1960 national census.

Bloody Fighting Goes On Between U.N. Troops And Katanga Forces

BORDER IN THE NEWS Indian Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament in New Delhi Communist China has threatened to invade India's northeast frontier if India does not halt military activity. Nehru said Peiping complained of military activities in the disputed Ladakh area of Kashmir (1) and also in such areas as Bara Holi (underlined) in Uttar Pradesh state (2), west of the Tibetan border. He said the Chinese hinted they may take action by sending troops south of the McMahon line (3).

Forty Killed; Accusations Fly On Responsibility For Battle

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—U.N. troops and Katanga forces fought bloody pitched battles in and around Elisabethville Tuesday, bringing the province to a war footing.

By the best available count, about 40 persons were killed and more than a score injured before the fighting subsided at dark into scattered gunfire. The battles may have signaled a new showdown between 6,000 U.N. troops in Katanga and 12,000 Katanga gunmen and paratroopers. The United Nations declared the day's fighting could not be considered a localized incident.

Nightfall left this Katanga capital a dead city. Only the hospitals caring for the wounded showed signs of activity.

Each side accused the other of treachery and of starting the shooting. Initial gestures of conciliation failed. Adding to the tensions were reports that 45,000 Balubas in nearby refugee camps had begun arming themselves with knives, bicycle chains, axes and homemade guns, ready for a possible breakout. Holding them back were less than 70 Swedish U.N. troops.

The fighting erupted after Katanga officials expressed anger over a new U.N. resolution calling Katanga's secession from the central Congo government illegal. The United Nations had issued a new ultimatum to clear roadblocks on the main road to the Elisabethville airport, scene of the heaviest fighting.

It was the second major engagement between the two forces in three months.

In Paris, President Moise Tshombe of Katanga followed the Elisabethville developments closely and confidently declared the Katangans had the situation well in hand.

At Leopoldville, the U.N. command said it had received unlimited authority to crush disorder in Katanga from acting U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

In New York, U. Thant ordered jet planes to Elisabethville to support ground action by the troops and destroy hostile aircraft. He directed Brig. K. A. S. Raja of India to take over from U.N. civilian officials in Katanga, virtually putting the U.N. operations there on a war basis.

U.N. officials said Katangans opened fire with mortars and other arms when Indian Gurkha troops advanced on an airport roadblock that the Katangans had promised to remove.

Katanga officials charged that U.N. troops first fired heavy weapons on lightly armed Katangans.

U.N. sources reported 38 Katangans killed, including six foreign mercenaries at the roadblock and in an attempted ambush of U.N. headquarters.

Katanga Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba reported nine U.N. wounded, but the U.N. acknowledged only one killed, two wounded.

Elisabethville hospitals reported they had received 23 wounded. After hours of mortar and small arms fire, which sent Katanga civilians rushing from the city in panic, light firing continued into the night. An occasional mortar shell burst in the vicinity of U.N. headquarters.

U.N. representatives reported Katangans lying in ambush in dug-in positions in bushes around U.N. headquarters had been cleared out, and a roadblock between the airport and the city had been taken.

Kimba claimed, however, that "we are in charge of Elisabethville" and that the government "has the situation well in hand." Radio Katanga, in a steady stream of Swahili, declared "Everyone must fight. Please attack the U.N. dogs."

"We have been ambushed and shot at all over," declared Brian Urquhart, a U.N. special political adviser, who said the widespread preparations made it impossible to regard the outbreak as a localized incident.

E. Berliners Steal Train For Escape Into Western Sector

BERLIN (AP)—A group of East Germans led by a daring young railroad engineer stole an East German train Tuesday night and drove it at high speed past startled Communist guards into West Berlin.

The locomotive and eight cars, carrying 32 persons, roared past the East German guards at 50 miles an hour and screeched to a halt three-fourths of a mile inside the Western sector, West Berlin police reported.

Harry Deterling, the 28-year-old engineer, his 18-year-old fireman and 23 passengers—all friends and relatives—announced they were refugees from communism and would not return to East Germany. Seven others, including the angry train conductor, chose to return to the Communist sector.

Earlier a company of U.S. troops crossed Red-ruled East Germany unhindered despite concern aroused by vague Communist threats of dangerous consequences.

The hijacked train was driven over tracks unused by passenger trains since the Communists started building their wall through Berlin Aug. 13. East Germany operates the railroads both inside and outside of Berlin.

Deterling told a reporter he had heard the line would be blocked completely next week so he started planning the escape last Thursday with the fireman, Hartmut Lichy, his family and friends. He said all 25 who stayed in West Berlin were in on the plot.

Lichy shoveled coal onto the fire and Deterling opened the throttle as the train rushed through its normal terminal station, Albrechtshof, without stopping. The engine crew leaped into the coal tender for protection from expected gunfire when the train rushed past border guards, one-fourth of a mile farther on. But there was no shooting, Deterling said.

Earlier the U.S. troops rolled into West Berlin without incident. Co. C, 2nd Battle Group, 6th Infantry, returned to its West Berlin base after four days of training in West Germany. It arrived in three sections, each headed by a Military Police jeep—24 jeeps and trucks in all.

The Americans traveled a 110-mile stretch of superhighway where most traffic is controlled by the Communist East German regime.

Disregarding the East Germans whom the United States does not recognize, Capt. William C. Barott presented his papers to the Soviet guards at either end of the road. His men had to dismount twice for head counts but this, like the rest of the trip, was routine.

E. S'burg Council Approves Employees' Retirement Plan

EAST STROUDSBURG Borough Council adopted an employees' retirement plan at its meeting last night. The 11 borough employees who are not members of the police department, which has its own pension plan, will benefit from it.

The plan, effective Jan. 1, will be administered by the State Municipal Employees' Retirement Board, and will cost the borough an estimated $4,000 yearly.

It is retroactive for employees currently employed by the borough. Benefits, along with Social Security, are expected to provide retiring employees with about 50 percent of their salary in benefits.

In other action, Council: Accepted the resignation of Carl Michaels as borough auditor. Michaels, who recently was employed by the borough, resigned to avoid any appearance of conflict of interest. No successor was named to fill out his term. The office is elective.

Renamed Herman Smeltz to the planning and zoning commission; Henry Evans to the Police Civil Service Commission and Dr. R. F. Jones to the Municipal Authority. The terms of Smeltz and Evans have expired, while Jones was scheduled to expire Dec. 31.

Forecasters Are Unable To Agree

By Peggy Bancroft
NEW FOUNDLAND — Weather prognosticators have been unable to agree about the forecast for Winter in the Poconos for 1962.

A Gouldsboro resident who determines the weather by the beechnut crop has pronounced that 1962 will be a very mild Winter without much snowfall, since there were few beechnuts this season. A good crop of beechnuts foretells a hard Winter, it seems.

South Sterling resident goes by the bark on the Ash tree. Tight bark, cold Winter; loose bark, warm Winter. So far, the bark seems to be moderately attached to the Ash trees in the Poconos, probably indicating that this Winter will be anybody's guess.

And then there are the woolly bears. Their bands of red and black are renowned as weather-forecasters, with the blacker the caterpillar, the colder and snowier the Winter.

Which brings to mind: I thing that I shall never see, A "woolly bear" upon a tree Without a-wondering to myself The hidden meaning of his pelt. What does his furry coat fore-tell?

Ah, me! I seem to know so well It forecasts snow on snow on snow And ice on ice, and blow on blow. Thin bands of red, broad bands of black Mean glowing nose and aching back!

But soon, before my very eyes, These woolly bears are butterflies. And I, though frozen, know one thing: When Winter comes, 'twill soon be Spring!

Loan Is Issued To Hamilton

The loan, for the purpose of purchasing road equipment, is to be repaid within five years at an interest rate of three per cent.

Chase Ups Interest

THE CHASE Manhattan Bank reported that on Jan. 1 it would begin to pay 3 1/2 percent on regular savings deposits and 4 percent on savings deposits of one year or more. It has been paying 3 percent.

The bank, largest in New York City and second largest in the nation, was one of the first to act under new Federal regulations lifting the interest ceilings on commercial bank time and savings deposits.

The savings deposit ceiling has been 3 percent for five years.

The nation's banks were authorized Friday night to pay up to 4 percent interest on some savings deposits. In a statement explaining its move, the Federal Reserve Board said the 4 percent rate would permit commercial banks to compete more effectively for savings deposits.

German Defense Budget Higher

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Defense Ministry has drawn up a 1962 budget amounting to 15.5 billion marks ($4.875 billion), reliable Defense Ministry sources said Tuesday.

This would be more than $1 billion higher than the current budget. Informants said the ministry felt the increase is necessary in order to meet NATO obligations.

25 Countians Face Call To Services

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — Twenty-five Monroe County men are scheduled to be called in the December induction and pre-induction physical examination calls, State Selective Service Headquarters said.

Of this number, three are slated to report to Wilkes-Barre, on December 14 for draft induction.

The remaining 22 will report (also to Wilkes-Barre) for pre-induction physical examinations. The examination date also was given as December 14.

All registrants will come from local board 105, Stroudsburg. Pennsylvania this month is calling 2165 men to fill the De-

1,200 Items Collected

'Toys For Tots' Campaign

MORE than 1,200 toys have been collected in the annual U. S. Marine Corps Reserve "Toys For Tots" campaign, drive chairman Sgt. James Shafer announced last night.

To make the drive more successful Wyckoff's Department store in Stroudsburg erected a Christmas tree in the lobby of entrance to the shoe department.

Store employees have joined in the campaign and will remind the shoppers of the tree and where to place their gifts.

Maj. H. G. Baker, commanding officer Salvation Army, East Stroudsburg urges the people to remember the needy children in the county.

He said, "All the toys are collected by members of the Third Motor Transport Battalion U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, and are turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution."

Started In 1947
The idea of "Toys For Tots" began in 1947 with a reserve unit on the west coast and then spread across the nation. Annually the Marine Reservists lead this drive.

Last year in Monroe County more than 10,000 toys were donated by the public. These toys were distributed to more than 200 families in the county.

S/Sgt. Shafer, reservist in charge of the county drive, said "The drive is running slightly behind schedule but I expect the people of the county to come through as they have in other years."

Casual Buys Worthington Building

CASUAL Toys Inc. yesterday moved into the former Worthington Mower engineering department building, Second St., Stroudsburg.

The building was bought a month ago by Al Lee Peters, owner of Casual, from Atty. Walter Olenick and Edward Odger, recent purchasers of the ex-Worthington plant. No purchase price was disclosed.

Casual was situated in the Carmella building in East Stroudsburg. Prior to that the firm which employs 40 persons was on Second St. before the 1955 flood and a fire in 1956 forced the firm to abandon the site.

The former Worthington engineering building covers 173 feet by 137 feet. Also a large parking lot adjoins the building. Peters, a resident of 272 Broadhead Ave., East Stroudsburg has 42 machines set up for business and has space to put together more. Also included in the layout is a special pressing room which has the most modern equipment.

Casual's business is contract work with the plant's flow of material and goods going to the manufacturers, mostly in New York and Philadelphia.

Thieves Grab $250 From Tavern

THIEVES took $250 from the Town Tavern, 730 Main St., Stroudsburg, between 2:30 and 3:30 a.m. yesterday.

Police Chief John B. Tretheway said $150 was taken from the two cash registers and another $100 from the back bar.

Tretheway said that, as was the case in two other recent burglaries, there was no sign of forced entry. Police theorized that the thief or thieves concealed themselves in the building prior to closing time.

Police said the thieves left by a rear door, leaving it unlocked.

Last week burglars took $1,500 from the home of Aerio 1106, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and $800 from the home of Thomas P. Lambert Post, 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In all three cases, there were no signs of forced entry.

Agriculture's Defense Is Strengthened

AS PART of a realignment of the Agriculture Department's defense planning organization, the State Executive Directors of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service have been named as chairmen of USDA State Defense Boards.

The managers of County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices are named as chairmen of USDA County Defense Boards.

Harry A. Peters, Scotland, Pa., now also becomes chairman of the Pennsylvania USDA State Defense Board. LaDora M. Bolcar, manager of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office is also chairman of the Monroe USDA County Boards.

The purpose of the action, the Department announced, is to help American agriculture be prepared for any foreseeable emergency need for food and fiber by facilitating the work of the boards and making coordinated leadership easier in an emergency should occur.

The boards formerly were called State and County Emergency Planning Committees. Chairmen were designated from staff members of USDA agencies with defense responsibilities or from the Cooperative Extension Service.

The program will consist of a presentation of the proposed itinerary and cost of the trip to Philmont, N. Mexico which is taken by the area Scouts. Literature will also be given to those who attend the meeting showing the opportunities at the New Mexico reservation for Boy Scouts.

Only Two Deer Kills Reported

ONLY TWO deer were reported killed to The Daily Record yesterday — the second day of the 1961 antler season. However, unofficial reports noted more than 20 were bagged.

Reporting kills were Walt Fossa, owner of PMI-in-the-Sky, Mount Pocono, who shot a 120-pound deer at 7:50 a.m. on Monday.

Barry Lee Schaffer, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Schaffer of Kunklestown, RD 1, shot a 10-point buck near Effort. He shot the animal about 10 a.m. opening day.

Early-morning rains and heavy winds cut down on the number yesterday.

On Monday, more than 70 deer were killed in Monroe County.

Posten Elected President Of NE Auctioneers Group

WAYNE R. Posten, veteran Monroe County auctioneer, was elected president of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Auctioneers Association during dinner meeting held at Albino's, East Stroudsburg.

Elected vice president was Vernon Cotton of Athens. The local chapter also reelected Forster C. Henderson of Scranton as secretary-treasurer.

Retiring president Henry Brooks of Wilkes-Barre was elected as delegate representative to the annual Pennsylvania's auctioneers meeting which will be held in Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg on Jan. 5 and 6.

Discuss Bill
In other business, the group discussed the newly enacted bill governing auctioneers in the state. The bill sets up a place for state licensing system instead of through individual boroughs as has been done previously.

The bill also provides for apprentice auctioneers and bonding of auctioneers.

The Pennsylvania State Auctioneers, of which the local group is a member, sponsored the bill.

The next meeting will take place in February at Wilkes-Barre. There will not be any meeting in January because of the state convention.

Stamps With A Purpose

According to the figures published this morning by the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society, the Christmas Seal sales have dropped behind this year in comparison to 1960. Although the per capita return has been a bit higher, the number of replies received has dropped considerably.

It may be possible that some Monroe Countians do not realize the importance of the gay seals they have received in the mail, and have just put them aside with the intention of getting around to sending in their contribution. This is perhaps indicated in the fact that several hundred less replies have been received so far this season.

However, the sale of the seals is of vital importance in the fight against tuberculosis. In recent decades, the prevalence of this disease has been curbed considerably — but it is by no means stamped out. It will not be stamped out until the last vestige of the germ has been permanently destroyed.

The annual estimated cost of tuberculosis to the people of Pennsylvania is $50,000,000. During recent years, approximately one-third of the total budget of the Pennsylvania Department of Health has been earmarked for tuberculosis control activities, including hospital treatment.

The annual cost of tuberculosis to the people of the United States is estimated at $750,000,000. This includes money spent for prevention, detection, treatment and compensation. It does not include lost earnings.

Do these figures sound as if tuberculosis is licked? Certainly not! But it is being gradually lessened and those few pennies and dollars that you contribute to the Christmas Seal campaign aid a great deal in continuing the fight.

How about picking up those seals you were sent a while back, use them and get your contribution in today. It's getting late!

Opinions Of Other Editors

Vital Role Of The Reserves

Historically the problem of an effective military reserve has rarely been satisfactorily solved. The reservist may escape some of the regular soldier's rigors but he is often troubled by uncertainty, ennui and civilian obligations. President Kennedy has properly noted that some of these difficulties are affecting men called back to service by the Berlin crisis.

We believe Mr. Kennedy was unwise in heaped slapping at newspaper reports of discontent. Certainly the complaints should not be exaggerated. But it should be useful to have them examined so that they can be proved groundless — or made so. "Snafu" should not be considered as an acceptable way of life.

In many cases the families of men called up are having more real trouble than the men themselves — who are surely more fortunate than veterans of World War II who had to fight again in Korea. Reservists and their families will find some encouragement in the President's promise to release reservists as soon as feasible — with August the current target date. And many may be helped by his reminder that the service asked of them was not to fight a war but to prevent a war.

The cold war situation accentuates reserve problems. Danger — and the need for sacrifices — is less visible than in a hot war. And it is not feasible to call up thousands every time the Kremlin chooses to tighten tensions. Reservists may question the need for their sacrifices but they will hardly ask that a guarantee of hot war be written into their service contracts.

Increasing the regular forces should ease the reserve problem. And undoubtedly steps can be taken to remove inequities and special hardships. While the draft quotas have been stepped up unrealistic medical standards and other factors are relieving many youths of any military service.

There should be a new look at brass-bound traditions, inconsistencies and irregularities. And in a free country citizens may rightly ask for fuller explanations as to the necessity for a call-up. But citizens and government alike must recognize that the cold war requires even greater teamwork and devotion to solve the always tough reserve problem.

Chinaman's Chance

The Pennsylvania Story

Aftermath Of The Election

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's young citizenry didn't realize it at the time of course, but the simple fact is that when they got through fiddling with the voting levers last year, they unquestionably performed a most unusual service for the Keystone State.

Or at least this is the case on the legislative front where that lawmaking body wound up as "painfully split" (politically) as any political old pro could even remotely envision in his wildest nightmare.

In a sense it is a paradox that this seemingly "outlandish" condition should be paying off right now for Pennsylvania — yet it is doing just that.

It is epitomized at the moment in the great hassle and squabble over what is to be done about redistricting the Keystone State insofar as its congressional districts. In Pennsylvania from 30 to 27 by mid-February or face an abortive and horrifying (to politicians) at-large election next year of all 27 congressmen. Again, it goes back to the November general election of last year when Pennsylvania's voters sent to Harrisburg 109 Democratic administration members of the House of Representatives (106 votes required for "control"), and in the Senate split even with 25 Democratic seats and 25 Republican seats (with 26 votes needed to hold the upper hand).

At the time (and ever since for that matter) political di-hardards and party professionals of both parties screamed mightily over this "rank injustice" on the legislative branch right down the middle.

Neither administration Democrats nor anti-administration Republicans were—or are at present—in position to override the other.

Net result is that both sides have had to strongly "temper" their respective legislative demands—it might well be said — to within reason.

This very condition which party political bucksters decry mightily (because it prevents right totalitarian power) is the one condition that has prevented Pennsylvania so far from having to condone a wildly gerrymandered congressional redistricting favorable to either Republicans or Democrats—depending on which might have the bit of outright legislative control in their teeth.

There is every reason to believe that had Democrats been held complete control of the Legislature, congressional reapportionment would have wound up long ago on the "solved" list—with three congressional districts knocked out of Republican hands.

By the same token had Republicans been in similar position there is no reason to believe that Democrats wouldn't have wound up on the losing end—to the tune of loss of three Democratic districts.

The "terrible" legislative split Pennsylvania's voters foisted on Republicans and Democrats last year is the only reason either one of these two abortive and extreme conditions is not the case today—and why (as it should be anyway) the political pros of both parties are resigned to the fact that each will have to give up one district in its own "territory"—with the third seat thrown up for grabs.

In neighboring New York State where Republicans hold the upper hand, both congressional seats that must be dropped were gerrymandered out of Democratic districts. On the other hand Democratic California gerrymandered out Republican districts.

Pious political screamin' notwithstanding — Pennsylvania's voters performed a tremendous service for the Keystone State. It is unfortunate it probably won't happen again next year!

About Town

She was a sly little lady in her nineties and once, when not felling completely well, decided to consult her physician. He examined her carefully, found nothing radically wrong and tried to reassure her by saying: "Well, after all, my dear you are not getting any younger." "That doesn't concern me," came the swift reply. "What does concern me is that I'd just like to be sure I'll be getting older."

Passing Of A Patriot

Senator Styles Bridges was unusual in his total patriotism. His horizon was beyond party; his loyalties were beyond personal motive or interest. He led the Republican Party in the Senate during difficult years when the party was uncertain as to purpose and principle.

Succeeding Robert A. Taft as a political philosopher, his interest was never limited to the success of his party but was designed to strengthen his country. Therefore, he was respected by Republican and Democrat alike.

I knew him well and admired him greatly and if I am slow in writing an obituary, it is only because his death pained me so. Styles Bridges represented a generation that inevitably must soon pass into history.

It was the generation of the depression whose aspiration was more survival, not only for our country but for each individual. That generation witnessed the passing of the traditions of America from the mores of those who founded the country to the confusions of change and alteration in imitation of novel European forms.

It was a curious period, for the richest of all lands found itself the poorest spiritually with nothing to say for itself or for itself except defensively. In such time, a man like Styles Bridges stands gallantly before the younger generations a courageous battler for truth and tradition.

The private lives of public men are often sad and lonely. They have little of time to offer their wives, upon whom is placed the burden of participation in the constant round of public affairs and campaigning.

Some wives add to their husband's burdens by misunderstanding their roles; some become competitive with their husbands for public notice. The wives of such men live with husbands who are always tired; who have no periods of rest or recreation; who must answer the call of government and party and go battling for friend and colleague when they would prefer to remain at home with their children.

Often the wife of the political personality has to drag along with him lest his days be filled with ugly and untruthful rumors. And a wife must be patient when the husband is unjustly attacked and abused.

Styles Bridges was most fortunate in a happy and comforting family life. His wife, Dolores, fitted his intellectual and spiritual mood and understood the responsibilities of the political life. Those who knew them saw a man and wife who were not competing against each other but who understood not only each other's character but their mutual responsibilities. They lived in frank and cordial affection which their friends knew and respected.

It is now being proposed in New Hampshire that Dolores succeed to her husband's seat in the Senate. Surely no one in New Hampshire, or for that matter, anywhere, could have had more Senatorial experience than Dolores Bridges who worked with her husband through many years.

She was not only a wife to her husband, but a friend and colleague and one who could quietly add wisdom to the quality of womanhood which she so richly possesses. I can testify to her unusual breadth of view and wisdom for often I have listened to her comments on current events.

It New Hampshire should decide to give Styles Bridges' seat to his wife, Dolores, it will assure themselves of a continuous high quality in their representation in the Senate. New England has never been afraid to recognize able and strong women.

The passing of Styles Bridges weakens the leadership of the Republican Party in Congress. Bridges was chairman of the Republican Policy Committee which decided formally what the Republican Party believed and practised. The leader of the Republicans in the Senate is Everett Dirksen of Illinois. It was Bridges, however, who gave a philosophic tone to the Republicans in the Senate. This was particularly valuable during the Eisenhower Administration when the party was uncertain as to its character and its future. President Eisenhower provided no leadership in Congress, he perhaps not altogether understanding the relations of the Presidency to Congress.

Since the advent of the Kennedy Administration, the Republican Party has been split by factionalism ranging from the Conservatism of Barry Goldwater to the Liberalism of Nelson Rockefeller. Senator Bridges sought to establish unity of thought and a lessening of animosities. It is difficult to know who can take his place as the party peace-maker in these years of trial.

The Allen-Scott Report

Direct Top-Level Liaison Is Urged During Crisis

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, Dec. 6—President Kennedy is seriously considering the appointment of a personal envoy to South Vietnam.

This special presidential representative, with the full rank of Ambassador, would be given a role similar to that of General Lucius Clay, the President's special representative in West Berlin.

Specifically, the envoy would act as a direct liaison between the President and South Vietnam's President Ngo Dinh Diem, who is balking at strong State Department pressure to bring representatives of other South Vietnam groups into his government.

President Diem is privately urging the appointment. He is seeking a more direct channel of communications with President Kennedy because of his growing distrust of the State Department officials now dealing with his government.

In making his personal views known, President Diem messaged the President that these officials, including Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting, Jr., appear more bent on changing his government than bolstering the Vietnamese military forces to ward off the growing Communist guerrilla operations from North Vietnam.

President Diem, while not opposed to making democratic reforms over a number of years, contends that he must keep strong control over the government until the immediate red military threat is destroyed. He warns that these U.S. officials are being too hasty in pushing Western-style democracy on a country fighting for its very life.

President Kennedy, while very reluctant to by-pass Secretary of State Rusk, is indicating that he believes there is merit in sending a special ambassador to South Vietnam.

He asked Secretary Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, and General Maxwell Taylor, his personal military adviser, for their recommendations of a person of General Clay's "ability and standing" for the mission.

The President stepped directly into U.S.-South Vietnam relations last week by reversing a decision by Secretary Rusk to recall U.S. Ambassador Nolting. He ruled that conditions in the Communist-menaced nation were far too serious to bring pressure on Diem by recalling Nolting. Instead, the President ordered the Ambassador to continue his negotiations and to drop some of the proposed changes that the iron-willed Diem had objected to.

Asian Alliance — President Diem is also proposing that the U.S. consider junking the "ineffective" Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in favor of a new Asian Alliance to combat Communist expansion in the area.

The new Asian Alliance would include Thailand, the Philippines, South Vietnam, South Korea, Formosa, Japan, Pakistan, Australia, and New Zealand, and the United States.

Great Britain and France, both members of SEATO, would be dropped because of their past reluctance to back that organization's military intervention in Laos and South Vietnam.

President Diem is warning that outside military help will be needed if North Vietnamese forces launch their long-threatened offensive to overrun South Vietnam.

The large-scale attack, which the Communists have been preparing for months, may include Communist Chinese troops.

President Diem reports that a secret Red Chinese-North Vietnam pact signed by Ho Chi Minh and Liu Shao-Chin in Peiping recently provides Chinese troops and air force for North Vietnam. Already, three Red Chinese divisions are reported enroute to North Vietnam.

This Communist military buildup is in addition to an estimated 35,000 regular and guerrilla North Vietnamese forces now concentrated in South Vietnam or in Laos, near the former's borders.

Looking Forward — President Kennedy believes there is a 50-50 chance that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will release U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers before Christmas. He hinted as much in his recent talks with German Ambassador Hans Kroll. Chancellor Adenauer passed the information along to President Kennedy during their White House meeting last month. The President ordered the State Department to make an official inquiry about Powers. . . . The U.S. Navy has a new long-range anti-submarine weapon system under development named "DASH"—Drone Anti-Submarine Helicopter. DASH is a remotely controlled, unmanned, torpedo-carrying helicopter which can be flown from the deck of a destroyer in any weather without risk to a pilot's life. It can fly to the area where sonar gear has detected the presence of a submarine, hover there until instructed to drop its torpedo, and then fly back to the destroyer for rearming. The vehicle is a small, two-bladed coaxial helicopter with a rotor diameter of 20 feet, and is powered by a 72 horsepower engine. . . . Despite earlier White House denials, President Kennedy is going to deliver a nationwide TV-radio fireside chat on civil defense. White House aides are now trying to arrange a date, probably some time late in December.

Inside You And Yours

Dear Doctor...

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.
Dear Doctor: To prevent leg cramps, I drink a half gallon of sea water each year. It contains natural ionized minerals.

Mrs. L. A.
Dear Mrs. A.: Those natural ionized minerals have been shown to cause more high blood pressure than kitchen-made salt solutions. A half gallon each year is a drop in the ocean—but it's no low-salt diet!

Dear Doctor: Since I wouldn't know whom to call if I get sick at night, I'm saving your columns to "follow".

Mrs. S. B. J.
Dear Mrs. J.: Thanks for the compliment, but you'd best follow your nose straight to the telephone and call a local doctor. Why not contact his office today? Then he'll have a head-start when that middle-of-the-night emergency explodes.

Dear Doctor: What would cause a small swelling to appear in the lower right side when lying down?

Miss R. L.
Dear Miss L.: Almost anything from a bruise, innocent tumor or torn muscle fiber in the abdominal wall to cysts, tumors and smoldering infection in any abdominal organ. Don't gaze at the lump; see your doctor instead.

Pain In Back

Dear Doctor: Is there something wrong when your lower back hurts after bending over?

Mrs. N. R.
Dear Mrs. R.: Yes—you're bending the wrong way! Instead of stooping over, bend your knees and crouch down with your back straight. This way you'll have more bounce and less strain!

Cracks In Lips

Dear Doctor: My teenage son—husky, with a terrific appetite—has dry cracks in the corner of his mouth. Any ideas?

Mrs. R. G.
Dear Mrs. G.: Lots!

Chapped lips? Tooth cavities? Smoldering infection? Vitamin B deficiency—especially B-2 and Niacin — form eating mainly sweets and starches? Giant, overstretching bites to soothe that husky appetite? And still others?

No matter which, camphorated petrolatum helps until the cause is treated.

Bar Group Names New Area Official

A NEW zone representative for Monroe County has been named by members of the Pennsylvania Bar Association in recently completed balloting. Mrs. Barbara Lutz, Harrisburg, PBA executive secretary announced yesterday.

Named for the local area was Charles H. Miner Jr., of Wilkes-Barre. Miner will represent the Fifth Zone which includes Lackawanna, Luzerne, Susquehanna, Wayne, Pike, Wyoming, Sullivan, Monroe and Bradford Counties.

A total of six new representatives were named. The PBA has twelve geographic zones. Even and odd-numbered zones elect in alternate years.

Zone representatives serve as members of the PBA Board of governors and have other responsibilities for coordinating bar activities in their zones. They will take office at the close of the ABA's 66th annual meeting to be held in Harrisburg, Jan. 25 to 27.

THERE are four deer-bucks that the hunters in Monroe County will not get this fall. They were killed on the highway during past weeks by trucks. The danger spots seem to be the culvert near the Empire Box Factory and the highway near the M. E. Plant. The animals were taken in charge by the game warden and given to County Institutions.

Mrs. George Court and Mrs. Robert Kaiser motored to Plymouth last Friday to bring home Mrs. Edward Matthews, Sr. who had spent some months there.

Letters are being received from Rev. Francis Seely and members of his family now in Chiang Mai, Thailand (Box 37). Mr. Seely is busy with translation work, teaching a course in EXODUS at the Seminary, and has responsibility for seven Christian groups in the country, two of which are churches. Mrs. Seely teaches in the school and has eight children in the first grade. Each of the family has a bicycle as that is the mode of travel. The eldest son, Edward, was to get home to the family last week from his school in India and would have three months vacation.

A/2C Donald Kitchen arrived home from Rome, N. Y. Sunday for twenty days. When he returns there, he will sign for three days pass; and after that has Christmas leave. The Willard Kitchens also have home their son Dale Newhart a student at Extension College in Allentown who will have vacation until January 5.

PLEASINGLY RUSTIC: A contemporary version of the old-fashioned front porch, plus an intersecting roof, gives this up-to-date three bedroom ranch an air of rustic charm. The house contains 1,315 square feet in dimensions of 62 feet 3 inches wide by 35 feet deep. Interior features a sunken living room, cathedral ceiling.

By JULES LOH
RUSTIC warmth, emphasized by a contemporary version of the old-fashioned front porch, characterizes this up-to-date three bedroom ranch.

Its suburban charm doesn't end at the threshold, either. The interior design, practical and convenient in every way, features a sunken living room which extends beyond the rear walls of the house and has windows on three sides. It also has a homey, foot-to-ceiling stone fireplace separating it from the entrance foyer.

Designer of House of the Week B-95 is architect Samuel Paul. The house contains a modest 1,315 square feet of living area in overall dimensions of 35 feet deep and 62 feet 3 inches wide. Paul suggests a 75 foot by 100 foot lot to take full advantage of the exterior features.

The floor plan is a well ordered arrangement of living room, combination kitchen-dining room, family room, three bedrooms, entry foyer, one full bath, a lavatory, washroom, one-car garage and partial cellar.

The exterior is a handsome blend of stone veneer and wood siding with an intersecting roof line, in the shape of a cross, which further emphasizes its rustic character. While the shape of the house is unusual, it consists of simple rectangular forms which permit a direct and simple framing system to be used in construction. The effect of the front-to-rear roof gable is even more striking inside. It allows a battened cathedral ceiling to flow through the house unobstructed, producing an unusual sense of spaciousness. To preserve the effect, the closets in the entry (which also serve as a divider) don't extend all the way up to the ceiling.

The informal area—most used portion of any modern home—like-wise is well planned for efficient, relaxed living. An especially fine feature is the lavatory, convenient not only to the family room-kitchen area but to the outdoors as well.

Additional Details
The living room fireplace, as desirable as it is for its homey effect, is offered as an optional feature by architect Paul who realizes a person's desires don't always conform to the family housing budget.

Should you decide in favor of the budget, an ornamental rail would be substituted as a divider in the foyer, producing a balcony two steps above the sunken living room. If the fireplace is constructed, however, the boiler flue would be placed within the chimney and thus the vanity in the wash room would be lengthened considerably.

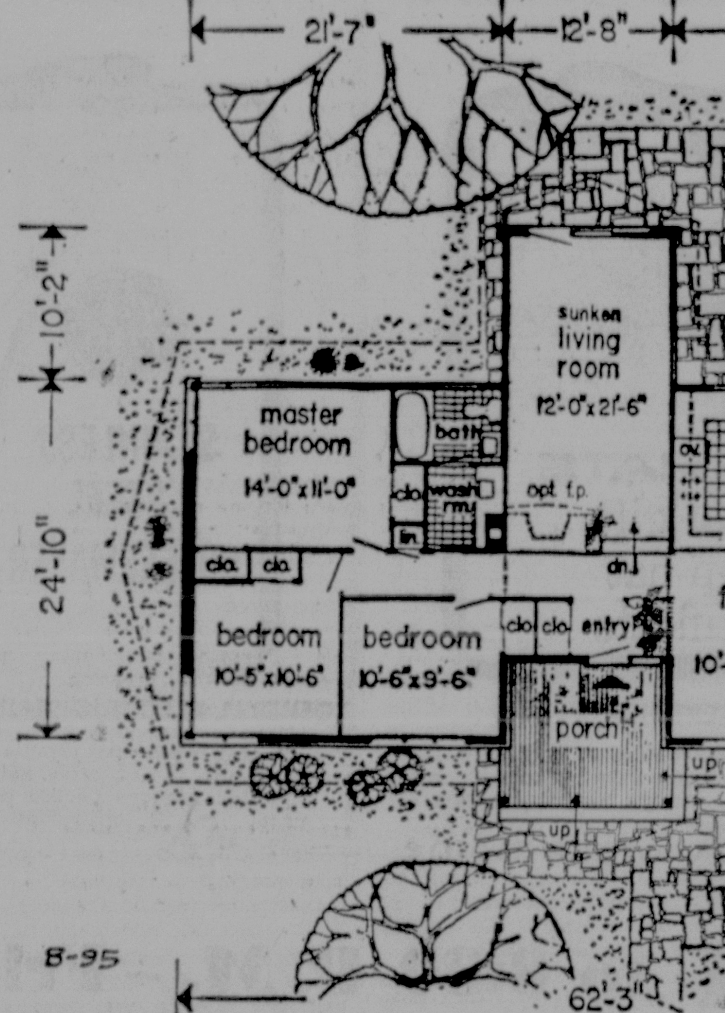

The wash room, incidentally, deserves further attention. For reasons of plumbing economy, it couldn't be placed in a better place. Far from being a duplication of the adjoining bathroom facilities, this innovation eases the morning rush those of us who have lived in one-bathroom houses are familiar with, and in addition provides a handy and attractive powder room for guests.

The kitchen-dining area of this house is ideally laid out. The step - saving U-shaped kitchen (with sink overlooking the terrace for excellent supervision) is separated from the dining area by hanging cabinets. Sliding glass doors lead to the large, flagstone rear terrace. The terrace also is accessible from the living room and the garage, making it an excellent relaxing area you'll appreciate more in the warmer weather.

The front porch—a rarity nowadays—can be appreciated in all kinds of weather. It provides the best of all covered entrances in rain or snow, and in warm weather is good for just sitting—like grandpa used to do. If nothing else, though, in combination with the front patio the porch serves as a pleasing and gracious entrance.

B-95 Statistics
A three-bedroom ranch with

FLOOR PLAN: Shape of this house is unusual, but consists of simple rectangular forms which permit direct framing system. Stone fireplace in living room is optional feature. If built, boiler flue would be inside chimney, and vanity in wash room lengthened. Note efficient plan of kitchen.

Overall dimensions are 35 feet deep and 62 feet three inches wide, containing 1,315 square feet of living area not counting 281 square foot garage, 124 square foot front porch, 968 square foot basement. Basic house contains 14,989 cubic feet.

WHAT'S New?
After five years of research, a new high-bond mortar is under development which it is claimed could reduce clay masonry walls to half their current thickness and provide even greater structural strength. A full-scale program of field testing in a wide variety of walls is under way. The plan is to present the data to national code authorities for approval of the higher allowable stresses for clay masonry that engineers say appear practical through this mortar development. The project has been a joint effort of a leading manufacturer of chemically engineered building products and the Structural Clay Products Research Foundation, designed into the system.

which is the research arm of the brick and tile industry in the United States and Canada. A residential version of a commercial acoustical-aluminum ceiling has been introduced for the do-it-yourselfer. It's a suspended ceiling system, assembled from interlocking "tee" members on a two foot-by-two foot, or two foot-by-four foot module. Tabs on the ends of the intersecting tees are locked into place with a special tool to assure rapid assembly and high tool strength. A perforated strap suspends the aluminum grid from any existing ceiling. Panels are then dropped into the modules to complete the project. Provisions for light fixtures are also designed into the system.

Life Size Nativity Easily Made

EVERYONE who loves the spirit that is Christmas will find much joy in building this life size Nativity scene. While it is a big project and takes considerable time to build and paint, it provides endless hours of pleasant activity. By building this now you generate the Christmas spirit weeks in advance.

Building this life size Nativity scene is a project an entire family, neighborhood or civic group can enjoy making. Cutting out the figures, painting each in the exact color and space indicated by full size painting guides, provides many hours of creative and satisfying effort. Measuring 12 feet wide, standing over eight feet high, the creche makes a most impressive Christmas display. Joseph stands six feet six inches tall with other figures in exact proportion. Full size patterns simplify cutting and painting, also tell how to position each figure and spotlight the entire scene in order to achieve dramatic results. The pattern specifies low cost, weather proof panelboard that is easy to cut and even easier to paint.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

The poor little raggedy kids with their noses pressed against the windows of the toy store which used to tug at pre-Christmas heartstrings have nothing on me when it comes to night Christmas meetings.

It is a sad thing to rush to a meeting after work just in time to hear the people who were there all the time raving about how wonderful the program had been. "Tell me," you beg. "Terrific," says one. "Indiscribable," said another.

From which, of course, you get about as much flavor as watching somebody else lick their chops after a big meal. But of course at the AAU meeting they were right; some things — like the dance group have to be seen first hand.

One of the most effective things about the program, they all agreed, was the quality, timbre and feeling of Elizabeth Flagler's voice coming out of the darkness as she interpreted the movements of the dance in relationship to the play.

Fortunately, this wasn't one of those horrible, from my viewpoint, dessert meetings where I not only miss the program but the refreshments as well. Although for a while Audrey Wyckoff and her committee got a little panicky as the line kept growing and browning and they kept slicing their ribbon sandwiches thinner and thinner.

However, there was plenty and everybody had plenty to talk about. Including admiration for the homemaking suite at the East Stroudsburg High School. The home ec girls had decorated the dining room so that Florence Calkins and Audrey Cohen, pouring at the table with its red tablecloth against the background of red and white carnations, looked exactly like the magazine cover of a Christmas issue.

And looking like the illustration of "Unusual Gifts You can Make" from that same issue was the display of the handicraft of the Arts Group. I was fascinated with their miniature Christmas trees. My favorite was a colorful one with all the tiny seed pods, stones, shells, and stuff Alice Wicks had brought from California, pasted on a styrofoam base. But my enthusiasm for making one of my own sort of waned when she said it took about six hours.

Theoretically I should accomplish a lot of work in those six hours; actually, I'll probably spend them worrying because I haven't done any Christmas decorating.

Pageant On Program For Grace ULCW

At the meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of Grace Lutheran Church, a special collection was taken to buy a large-print Bible for the partially-sighted at the Muhlenberg Medical Center.

Mrs. Marion Field presided at the meeting held on Monday night. It was announced that the group had made and filled 60 Christmas stockings for the United Council of Church Women for distribution at the Allentown State Hospital.

After the meeting a Christmas pageant was presented starring Miss Kay Angle, Miss Linda Bosman, Miss Nancy Eilenberger, Miss Georgianna Hines, Miss Sharon Smith and Miss Amy Wunder under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Butz.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Helene Mery, Mrs. Ethel Kishpaugh, Mrs. Edna Merring and Mrs. Alma Swink.

Fire Co. Aux. At Jackson's

Delaware Water Gap—The Fire Co. Aux. met at the home of Mrs. Robert Jackson when Mrs. Nelson Lightner Sr. named a nominating and auditing committee for the coming year.

For nominating: Mrs. Elmerdort Runyan, Mrs. P. A. Rockefeller, Mrs. Russell Shellenberger; for auditing: Mrs. C. B. Rosenkrans and Mrs. Rockefeller.

Mrs. William Donaldson, who recently moved into the bungalow formerly occupied by the Howard Nash family, was welcomed as a guest.

I WAS sick and ye visited me—the pictured Christ Child seems to be looking down with interest on the Christmas stockings—260 of them—for the patients at the Allentown State Hospital, a project of the Monroe County Council of United Church Women, of which Mrs. Claude Leister, left, is president. Mrs. Elwood Grant, co-chairman with Mrs. Nathan Meyer, is standing left, and Miss Grace DePue is a member of the committee, which also included Mrs. Hugh Altomose and Mrs. Milton Mery. TO FILL THOSE EMPTY SHELVES with books to stimulate children's interest in reading is one of the purposes of the Book Bazaar being sponsored by the Arlington PTA on Friday night and Saturday at the school. Book Bazaar To Stimulate Child Reading

The Arlington Heights Parent-Teachers Assn. in sponsoring a Book Bazaar this Friday and Saturday, has a double purpose. While hoping to raise funds for the PTA they also hope to stimulate interest in reading among all the children of the area.

Educators and parents share a joint responsibility for improving children's ability to read, the officers point out. One way to assist and reinforce master of basic reading skills is to surround children with books at home.

In urging that parents build up a child's own library so that he can return to favorite books again and again, they suggest that the library be balanced with all types of fiction and non-fiction books, with books dealing with his own particular interests, and with resource type material where he can look up the answers to many questions.

The Book Bazaar will feature selections to interest all levels of reading and all pocketbooks.

League Aims To Score At Meeting

The open meeting of the League of Women Voters tonight will begin with dessert and coffee at 7 at the home of Mrs. David Ashley, 602 East Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Ashley, Mrs. Edmund Leamy and Mrs. Arthur Jensen are hostesses.

Mrs. A. W. Koster and Mrs. F. G. Butler will report on activities of the Voters Service which included the Candidates Meeting prior to the election. This service is part of the League's nationwide project to encourage participation of the public in government.

Mrs. John Stanford will report of the activities of the committee of special services in notifying new residents of their polling places and in distributing leaflets concerning election issues.

Greek Art, Modern Dance Combine In Program

"An Evening with the Fine Arts" brought members of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Assn. of University Women and their guests ancient drama and modern dance in an effective combination at the meeting held Monday night in the auditorium at East Stroudsburg Joint High School.

Mrs. David Mazer introduced the program designed to show the influence of classical drama on current dance forms, both "live" and on film.

"Oedipus Rex," first of Sophocles' Greek trilogy was given its proper setting by Mrs. Harold Flagler who sketched the background of Greece in B. C., the place of the drama in the religious worship of the day, and the part the audience itself played in that drama. She also outlined the story and significance of the play itself, representing the tragedy of man caught by circumstance.

It was Mrs. Flagler's voice which interpreted the dance, based on Oedipus, presented by six students from the college under the direction of Miss Joanne McKeag of the physical education department: Jerilyn Cook, Merrily Dean, Judy Felker, Joan Battle, Ethel Mirch and Mary Kenny.

Voice, music, and the dance itself were further dramatized by effective lighting directed by Pat Morrison and Gwynne Jones, and background music directed by Anne Griffith.

Following the live presentation, a film of "Night Journey," also based on the Greek play, was shown starring Martha Graham as Jocasta; Betram Ross as Oedipus; Paul Taylor as Teiresias and Helen McGhee as leader of the chorus.

Mrs. Eugene Martin is program chairman. This program had been arranged by Mrs. Wendell Wicks, Dr. Lura Evans, Mrs. Mazer and Mrs. Flagler.

A display of articles made by members of the Fine Arts Group, of which Mrs. Wicks is chairman, featured copper enameled jewelry and ash trays, miniature Christmas trees in the Della Robbia manner, and dish gardens in unusual settings, illustrated with apt quotations.

Mrs. M. R. Keifer presided at the business meeting which followed the program. Miss Irene Mitchell was introduced as a new member. Mrs. J. L. Cohen announced a meeting of the Investment Club on Dec. 20 at 8 p. m. at room 108 at Stroud Union High School.

STROUDSBURG, PA.

I've just come from our Shoe Department, and I've never seen a bigger array of pretty boudoir slippers in as many different styles, colors, and fabrics as we are showing this year. Fact is, I was so enchanted with the display for little girls, I never did get around to seeing all that we offer for big girls, their Daddies and tiny brothers. In the little girls' display I noted . . .

- We have O'Mphies (with pom poms) of bright corduroy . . .
- Black velvets, untrimmed, to give chic charm . . .
- We have gay tartan plaids slashed low but built high, And perkily touched with a crimson yarn tie.
- There are slippers of nylon . . . warm, silken fleece . . . (The cuddliest of gifts from an Aunt to a Niece!) Plus cute little moccasins fashioned of leather. (Let's bring some Papoose and these cuties together!)
- There are others . . . all destined to charm a young Miss When she leaps out of bed for her first Christmas kiss. "Foot-first into Christmas" your motto should be As you ponder the gifts to place under her tree.
- Once those visions of Sugar Plums have danced through her head, She'll be up with the dawn, racing madly from bed. A relief it will be if you slumber on, knowing That 'neath her warm gown your gift slippers are showing!

Allentown Franchise Is Unpriced

IN 1958 A GROUP of Allentown businessmen bought a franchise in the Eastern Basketball League for $1,500. Today that franchise is so valuable that the businessmen won't put a price on it.

Actually the $1,500 which brought the team from Allentown to Allentown, included uniforms, ball, and a big smile from the Allentown people, who were happy to dump the lemon.

Through such promotions as female fan clubs, free beer nights for fans and an over-sized game program, the Jet organization has built its franchise into the strongest and most lucrative in the league.

Now in their fourth year, the Allentown Jets are drawing capacity crowds to their home games in Rockne Hall and are tied for first place in pro basketball's finest minor league.

Last year Allentown won the league championship, just two years after it finished in the basement with a dismal 2-22 record. Following the bad start, the Jets began to build and despite losing their top scorer for three years, Ray Scott, the club still prospered, not only on the court but at the ticket window.

"Our biggest problem was getting people out to the games," says general manager Bob Gross, who is also one of the 15 stockholders of the club. "The fans thought we had some sort of semi-pro league going. But once we got them to see a game, they kept coming back."

Gross says the club has to average 1,300 customers a game to break even. Last year an average of 1,600 fans saw each game. The club also declared its first dividend to stockholders last year.

League Limits Team Salary

The league helps keep expenses down by limiting the amount of money that the team can pay in salaries.

"We can only pay the team $400 a game," says Gross. "However, we can split the money any way we like between the players." The clubs in the league are allowed to carry only nine players and most of them keep only eight.

The players work on a game to game contract but the club has a one-year option on the player's services. That means that the club has control of a player for a year after the season is over but can fire the player at any time.

Two of the Jets' players, Ray Felix and Scott have jumped contracts in the past two years. Felix went with the Los Angeles Lakers and Scott went to the Detroit Pistons. However, in both cases, the Jets were paid for the players' contracts by the National Basketball Assn. clubs.

Also Overcame Coach Trouble

The Jets have also had coach trouble but apparently have made it over that obstacle also. Shortly after Allentown won the title last year coach John Mascavage, an East Stroudsburg State College graduate, was fired.

"We weren't happy with Mascavage," says Gross, "and that's about all I can say of the matter."

Former New York Knickerbocker coach Fuzzy Levine was named to coach the squad but on the eve of the team's first game, he was hired to head the St. Louis Hawks.

"Even though we lost Fuzzy," says Gross, "he did a great deal for us before he left. He got the boys in shape and that's helped us win four in a row. We've broken up several games because we outran the opposition. We are also using the system that Fuzzy installed."

When Levine left, Brendan McCann was named player-coach. The former St. Bonaventure star had played briefly for the Knicks and had been in the Eastern League for four years.

McCann probably won't finish the season as the coach. The club is more interested in a non-playing coach but doesn't want to hire a coach until it finds the man who meets the requirements.

"He must be a man that is familiar with the league and familiar with the players in the league," says Gross.

Team Balance Has Been Secret

The Jets' winning secret has been team balance and the desire to win, rather than just collecting a paycheck.

"The paycheck is the most important thing," says Gross, "but I have never seen a group of professional athletes that want to win as much as this team."

The big man in the Jets plans is Roman Turmon, an ex-Harlem Globetrotter, who got tired of playing in a different city every night. Turmon is averaging more than 30 points a game and is the leading rebounder in the league.

Two other Globetrotters, Ed Burton and Gene Hudgins team with Turmon. Hudgins is the leading average scorer in the league.

Bob Mantz, who guided Lafayette into the NIT years ago; Maryland's John Nacincik, Walt Simon, of Benedict College; Al Barden of NYU and Elizabethtown's Bob Nemeth, complete the squad.

McCann led the league in assists last year and Nacincik is considered the top defensive player in the league.

The Jets believe in the team angle so strongly that they cut one of the leading scorers in the league, Sonny Hill two years ago, because he shot too much.

As one of Hill's teammates put it, "The only way to get the ball away from Sonny is to disguise yourself as the basket."

Patterson Will Face Liston If Obstacles Are Removed

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
TORONTO (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said Tuesday he would like to meet Sonny Liston in his next fight if a few unnamed obstacles are removed to the satisfaction of his manager, Gus D'Amato.

"I would definitely give Liston a chance," said the 26-year-old titleholder. "The date, place and all that stuff will come later. According to my manager — or should I say adviser? — there still are a few obstacles. There are no obstacles to me. But my manager says they are pretty serious ones."

D'Amato, appearing later in the same news conference, refused to spell out the "obstacles."

"There are conditions to be removed," said D'Amato. "If he (Liston) really wants the fight, he can remove them. He is well aware of them. They are removable by anyone who wants a heavyweight title bout."

"There is nobody in the world I would like to have Floyd fight and beat better than Liston," D'Amato said he would wait a "reasonable period" before negotiating for any other opponent.

Patterson appeared unmarked after Monday night's wild fray with Tom McNeely Jr. of Arlington, Mass., who showed "courage, guts and condition" in a losing effort. Patterson finally put him away in the fourth round, after bouncing him up and down at least eight times.

The champ said he wanted Liston next "because he is the No. 1 contender and it may appear that I am kicking him but I am not."

In discussing Liston, D'Amato said the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission had shown tolerance and cooperation with Liston that he (D'Amato) never experienced. Liston recently was reinstated after a run-in with the law.

Other Cities

Patterson said the Liston fight was the only one New York would stand for but he didn't rule out other cities. He said he wanted to box in March and again later in the year in 1962.

Hopewell Scores 21

Royals Use Second Half Push To Rout ESSC 87-71

By Curt Prins
Daily Record
Sports Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG State College played one half of basketball and another of something else Tuesday night in dropping its opening game 87-71 to Scranton University at Normal Hill.

Coach Mort Hochheiser, in his first year as varsity boss, tried almost every combination of players but the Warriors could not hold Scranton in the second half. Hochheiser used 13 of his 15 players.

In the first half, East Stroudsburg used a full court press and it kept the Royals off balance but after the intermission the Royals ripped through the press and quickly pulled to a 10 point advantage. After that it was a trade baskets affair until late in the game when the Royals pulled far ahead.

Hopewell High
East Stroudsburg's Russ Hopewell led all scorers with 21 points. Hopewell, who has a chance to break the school's career scoring record, missed his first five shot attempts and then went to work. But after Hopewell dumped in 14 points in the first half, he cooled off and connected on only two field goals in the second half.

Scranton had trouble with the Warriors until Joe Barbutti got busy in the second half. He replaced Bill Witacis who ran into foul trouble and was benched. Witacis had only two points in the first half but bagged 14 in the second half. He missed only one field goal attempts. Witacis' 16 points were high for the Royals and he collected his total without the benefit of a foul shot.

Three Royals scored 14 points apiece, Witacis, Tom Foley and Joe Ryan.

Scott Weaver had 16 points for the Warriors but like Hopewell was ineffective in the second half.

Sophomore Paul Grube, who had a bad first half, was the only Warrior who had the scoring touch in the second half. Grube ended with 14 points.

Short Leads
East Stroudsburg led only twice in the game, both times in the first half. The Warriors did managed to tie the score at 51-51 in the second half but that's as close as the taller Royals let them get. Scranton hit for 40 points in the second half, while East Stroudsburg managed only 29. The halftime score had Scranton on top 47-42.

Scranton opened the game with six straight points, on three quick field goals. Hopewell put the Warriors on the scoreboard with a foul shot and Weaver added a drive shot. Weaver bagged two more drivers in the next two minutes and pulled East Stroudsburg within two points, 9-7.

For the rest of the half, the clubs traded points but Scranton collected back to back buckets in the final minute to take a five point half time lead.

In the second half the Warriors piled mistake on top of mistake and handed Scranton a 10 point lead with 14 minutes left in the game. After that it got worse as the Warriors lost the ball time after time without getting off a shot and the shot that were fired were less than good percentage chances.

East Stroudsburg dropped the junior varsity game also, 83-64, with the little Warriors found some mistakes that the varsity overlooked.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two holdovers from last year's team led the choices on the 1961 Pennsylvania Associated Press All-State Scholastic Football Team named Tuesday.

Bill Malinchak, end for Monessen's WPIAL-AA champions, and a third team choice last year, and George Garrett, 190-pound guard from Pottsville who was on the all-state second team a junior, were the holdovers.

The AP team was chosen from among 288 candidates, including 38 ends, 52 tackles, 35 guards, 19 centers and 144 backs.

Winning the other flank position with Malinchak was York's versatile Jim Rowe, a shade over 6 feet. Rowe proved himself one of the best placekickers ever to play at the high school level as he kicked five field goals this past season at distances ranging from 38 to 52 yards.

Leading the long list of top tackle candidates was John Carber of Nesheim, Carber was the top player from the southeast to make the squad, but he is the biggest boy on the first team. Carber is 6-foot-4, 220 pounds.

Tackle Choice
John Zarkovich, one of three Chief Logan players on the team, was the other tackle choice. He is 5-foot-11, 193 pounds.

East Stroudsburg State halfback Harold (Mach 2) Myers has been named to the third team of the 1961 Associated Press All-State Football Team.

It is believed to be the first time that a Pocono area player has received more than an honorable mention on the squad, which this year consists of 66 players. The players were selected by sports-writers and sportscasters.

The senior halfback who was a regional honorable mention last year, led East Stroudsburg in scoring and ground gaining this year. He scored 111 points, breaking the school's single season scoring mark of 83 set by Bob Kupiszewski in 1954.

Last week, Myers was named to the honorable mention squad of the United Press International All-State team.

The only other area player to receive more than regional honorable mention on the AP squad, was Pen Argyl and Jim Rodney, who was a state-wide honorable mention.

Named to the second team were: Eads, Rudy and Bob Stock, Washington; tackles, Wing and Jones; guards, Arnie Chew, Allentown Allen, and Steve Kush, Windber; center, Jim David, Hazleton; quarterback, Dennebaum; halfbacks, Bobby Hodan, Albert Gallatin, and Gary Lowman, Clarion, and fullback, Schaefer.

On the third team were: Ends, Gary Whitman, Lock Haven, and Dan Spanish, New Castle; tackles, Monago and Snowberger; guards, Tony Degeralomo, Farrell, and Ellery Seitz, Bellefonte; center, Bill Poichal, Wilkes-Barre; quarterback, Gingham; halfbacks, Hal Myers, East Stroudsburg, and Wyland, and fullback, Duranko.

Honorable Mention
Ends—Bill Flickinger, Somerset; Fred Klages, Ambridge; Dennis Koslowski, Hazleton; Jim Snyder, Gov. Mifflin; Jim Rodney, Pen Argyl; Ronald Kinsey, Middletown.

Tackles—Tom Raymond, Beth-center; Pete Desantis, Butler; Gilbert Gray, Titusville; Bill Wischnewski, Wilkes-Barre; Meyers; Tom Cypher, Tussey Mountain; Tom Haverstock, Central Dauphin.

Guards—Steve Schreckengast, Central Dauphin; Walt Miller, Franklin; Joe Beck, York Suburban; Lowell Taylor, Waynesboro; Rich Coleman, Edgewood.

Centers—Mike Vincent, Corry; Jim Kalbas, Farrell; Al Sabo, McKeesport.

Quarterbacks — George Gimble, Wilkes-Barre Meyers; Bob Bilet-nickoff, Erie Tech.

Knights' Rodney Is End Mention competition came from Dick Wing, Washington Twp., and Jim Jones, Easton, the second team tackles, and John Monago of Bradford and Norman Snowberger of Chambersburg who were picked for the third team.

Chosen for the other guard spot with Garrett was Howard (Brad) Keyes of Altoona, 5-foot-11, 195 pounds.

Bob Finley, center for Harrisburg Harris' Central Penn champions, was the first team choice at that spot.

Karl (Butch) Ryan of Beaver Falls edged West Scranton's Paul Dennebaum and Chief Logan's Dick Gingham for the first team quarterback position.

The 180-pounder was a top all-around player as Beaver Falls whipped through its second straight all-winning season.

At halfbacks on the first team are John Soprano of Sayre and Eric Crabtree of Monessen.

Soprano is the first player from the northeastern tier counties to make the AP All-State first team. He is 5-foot-7 and 150 pounds, the smallest boy on the first unit.

Crabtree was another reason for Monessen's outstanding success this year. The 185-pounder scored 13 touchdowns and passed for 12 others.

Coal Twp. Choice
Ron Nalewak of Coal Twp. beat Dick Schaefer of Williamstown, Bill Wyland of Lock Haven and Pete (Diesel) Durank of Johnstown Catholic for the first team fullback position.

Dear Abby

What's To Explain?

Dear Abby: What is this world coming to? I was shocked when my daughter's girl friend told me that last summer their priest put on bathing trunks and went swimming with the church choir! Also that he removes his collar and wears sports clothes on fishing trips, outings and picnics. Whether Roman Catholic, Episcopalian or any faith, are they permitted to do such things? Please comment, Abby. And perhaps the clergy would like to explain themselves.

MRS. SHOCKED

Dear Mrs. Shocked: You have a "short" in your thinking. I don't know of any diocese of religious order that requires priests to wear clerical clothes at all places, under all circumstances. Such decisions are left to the discretion of the priest wearing a sport shirt while on a picnic, an outing or fishing. And you certainly can't expect him to go for a swim in his collar!

Dear Abby: My husband died in mid-summer. Would it be in poor taste to send Christmas cards or send gifts this year?

WIDOW

Dear Widow: Certainly not. Those in mourning should not withhold their good wishes to others.

Dear Abby: Am I wrong to tell my 14-year-old freshman daughter that she does NOT have to accept dates with the first boy who asks her? She insists that if she refuses the first boy, she cannot accept a date for that night at all! On several occasions she has accepted a date with the first boy who asked her, and has been sorry because an hour later a boy she wanted to go with asked her. There were times when she turned down a date because she didn't care for the boy, and when a boy she really liked asked her, she turned him down, too, because she had already refused the first one. Please straighten this out. She won't listen to me.

Mrs. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: A girl need NOT stay home if she rejects the first boy who asks her out. Boys choose the dates they want, and girls have the privilege of accepting or declining. However, if a girl ACCEPTS a date with a boy (a drip or a dream) she must either go with him or stay home.

Confidential To Worried Sick: PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE tell your parents. You are both under age for marriage, but when you are really in trouble, you will find that your parents are your best friends.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 6, 1961

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Don't start day with misgivings, doubts. Note that you were going to, but these eyes, they are wrong and plain foolish. Synchrotron efforts to defeat with needs. April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Extra fine vibrations active in your sector. Tackle problems with revolving faith. Crystallize energies to accrue most benefit. Divers attention only when urgent arises. May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Some encouraging openings, but don't become excited over them and forget precautions. Circumvent complacency. It reacts unfavorably. Be not perplexed by detail, take it and analyze calmly. June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Very interesting outlook. Be vigilant to seize unscheduled opportunities, especially in early hours. On-the-job training effective, great implements theoretical learning study. July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Ranger handicaps influences. Day satisfying if you mind Ps and Qs, holding to high principles. Don't look for too much or build hopes on intangibles. But some "unattainables" can be had. August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—You don't ever go wrong when you adhere to finer instincts. Mercurial dictates. Ideals, needs, first things first. Observe new methods, they will be feasible, productive for you. September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Like Taurus, especially rays, now should motivate to effort. Unusual angles to be considered. You smart ones figure things out behindhand, then move with precision, dispatch. October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—A change in the wind. Be sure of your ground, are what you wish for prerequisites for your well being, happiness? If not, cast them aside pronto! Allow your natural ability room to expand. November 24 to December 31 (Sagittarius)—Jupiter strong in the friendly aspect department. Do your bit to confirm confidence in you. Study well each item on agenda. Watch for inconsistencies. December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Purposeful day, reason exercised. Define plans sufficiently to obviate chance misunderstanding. Proceed with assurance and poise to meet challenges, needs. January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Uranus urges caution, monetary endeavors, quick changes. Concentrate on essentials, avoid a loss involved. Be sure that you include proper appointment of talents. February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Dispose of routine matters systematically. Observe what others are doing, where they make progress. Gauge requirements and advance with surety, finesse, punctuality. YOU BORN TODAY are innately kindly, good company, love fun and can make it for others. You are meant to go "all out" in helping fellowman. In fact, you are the very circle of friends automatically. You are industrious, ambitious, a natural salesman, and when rightly educated and developed are a brisk able manager, lawyer, doctor, actor. May be tendency to disregard diplomacy especially when trying to finish something quickly. Even though you don't mean it, this has effect on fellowmen. You rarely miss your goal or objective because your intuitive actions plus coordination lead to proper execution of plans. Aim to keep improving self and to take the world and its trials philosophically. Birthdate of: Warren Hastings, 1st Gov. General of India; Joseph Louis Gay-Lussac, French chemist; physicist; many renowned latecomers.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Income Tax Forms Available

R. P. BROWNELL, District Director of Internal Revenue, Scranton, Pennsylvania, announced yesterday that income tax forms for the coming filing period are available for bulk distribution to accountants, attorneys, banks, and others needing quantities of returns. The director stated that while a limited supply of forms will be available to individual taxpayers, they are urged to await receipt of their yearly tax packages, which are automatically mailed to them after the first of the year. These packages contain the necessary forms and instructions for individual taxpayer use.

HEALTH CAPSULES

by Michael A. Petti, M.D.

HOW DOES THE INTELLIGENCE OF PEOPLE WITH PILEPSY COMPARE WITH THE GENERAL PUBLIC?

IT'S THE SAME. THERE ARE SOME DULL ONES, AND A FEW OF SUPERIOR INTELLIGENCE, BUT MOST EPILEPTICS ARE OF AVERAGE ABILITY, JUST AS IN THE GENERAL POPULATION.

Health Capsules gives helpful information. It is not intended to be a diagnostic nature.

Adjustments

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly lessen the value of the advertisement, should be corrected the first day when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Record assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

Policy

This newspaper is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and for its aims the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. This newspaper as well as every other member of the Association endeavors to print only truthful Want Ads and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertising not conforming to the highest standards of honesty.

Closing Time

Deadline for Classified Display: 3:00 p.m. 2 days prior to publication.

You are only charged for the number of days your ad appears in the paper.

Want ads accepted from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. for the following day and until 12 noon Saturday for Monday edition.

However, Want Ads now appearing in the Classified Section may be cancelled up to 3:00 p.m. Classified Display ads may be cancelled up to 11:00 a.m. for the next day's edition.

'Safari To Yukon' Presented

NEWFOUNDLAND — A "Safari of the Arctic" was presented by Dick "Yukon" Jackson, of Moscow, and F. Carroll "Klondike" Krautter, Newfoundland, for the benefit of the Rotary Club during their dinner meeting at Green's Restaurant.

Introduced by Dr. Frank Urdel, program chairman, the pair displayed world maps, geodetic maps and area maps of the Hudson Bay Country, and then showed slides of transportation, topography, ice floes, native settlements, as well as evidence of their prowess as sportsmen.

Yukon and Klondike were two of a party of five which included an 87-year-old man.

After the Safari, slides were shown of the Jackson Hole Country and the Grand Teton Mountain Ranges of Wyoming.

Walker Invited To Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said yesterday that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker will be invited to testify in Senate subcommittee hearings into charges military officers have been "muzzled" in troop indoctrination activities.

Stennis, chairman of the special preparedness subcommittee, said initial hearings in early January will include testimony by Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, retired former chief of naval operations, and Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, the Army's chief of research and development.

on the THIRD DAY of my WYCKOFF CHRISTMAS, my true love sent to me . . . a trio of luscious, lovely lingerie . . . exquisite at night, extravagant by day.

TWELVE DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

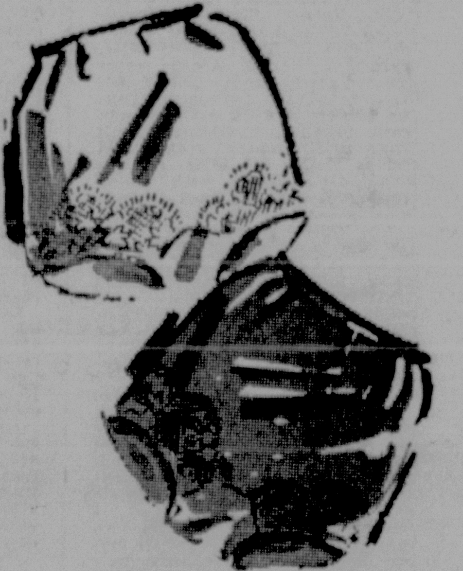

The third of a series of 12 advertisements inspired by the song "The Twelve Days of Christmas" created by Marlene Andrews.

All aflame with the rosy glow of Pink Fire . . . an absolutely intriguing new fashion color created by Vanity Fair comes into your night life with smoldering aplomb. This luscious boudoir elegance makes its appearance with the flowing lines of softest, sheerest nylon, the billowy lace of sleeves, and a neckline that bares your shoulders with the same delicate lace. Your Christmas dreams come true, set only . . . 29.95. The flash of Pink Fire, also sparks interest in a brilliantly inspired slip for underneath your holiday fashions. Sizes 32-40 . . . 5.95 The slip and negligee set comes in White Ice as well as in Pink Fire. Top of page Enticing baby doll sleepwear fashion with prettily embroidered neckline, S-M-L . . . only 12.95. Others from 8.95 to 10.95.

Luscious to look at . . .
Lovelier to own

The lavishness of Alencon lace shapes the hem and outlines the slashed sides of this precious half-slip styled by Vanity Fair. A wonderful lingerie fashion. White S-M-L sizes . . . only 6.95

The delicacy of soft lace imparts a wonderfully feminine touch to these fine panties by Vanity Fair. Exciting loveliness in blazing Pink Fire or White Ice. A colormate for V. F. fashions. Sizes 5-8 . . . 2-00 pr.

A touch of pearls, the rich embroidery of metallic threads on luxurious satin makes foot flattery of these imported satin slippers. In rich, dramatic colors, sizes S-M-L . . . unbelievably only 1.98 a pair.
